Advanced CIT Training: Officer Readiness and Resiliency

Pre-requisites: Law Enforcement Officers who have attended the full 40 hour CIT training

Being a law enforcement officer is a difficult job with unique stressors that those outside of the field often don't understand. With a focus on physical safety, officers are not always equipped with the tools and support needed to ensure mental safety. In this 8 hour class, law enforcement vetted trainers will discuss this important topic and help officers add new skills to help keep both body and mind safe while in the field.
